STOREY'S NEW COMMISSIONER.

Gov. Adams has displayed remarkably good tact and judgment in his appointment of John S. Kaneen as a Commissioner of Storey county. Mr. Kaneen is an old resident and has heretofore held positions of honor and trust in that county, serving the people faithfully. He is a keen and sagacious business man, and peculiarly fitted to discharge the duties of his new office. We have every confidence in his ability and integrity and feel satisfied that the people will soon have abundant reason to congratulate themselves that Mr. Kaneen was honored by the Governor.

Political Speculations.

The New York Times, in reviewing its Presidential canvass, says: "The gentlemen to whom our inquiries have been addressed have, in every case, good means of learning political preferences in their neighborhood, and in many cases they have superior means of doing so. Obviously the first consideration of the Democratic party is availability; the indispensable condition in every case is clearly that the candidate shall have been intimately connected with Democratic measures for a dozen years at least and that he shall be able and be independent. This is not a very strong position to occupy, but it is the one unmistakably indicated by our hundreds of correspondents. In the Republican party there is a less definite tendency toward even an approximate choice, but such as there is inclined toward Blaine, who is strong in Republican sections, and decidedly more popular than any Republican now or recently in public life. The condition of the Republican party as suggested in this vast amount of correspondence is, to a great extent, exactly opposite that of the Democracy. Merely negative availability will not unite the party, and unless matters shall change very much more than they are likely to change, it is plain that the full Republican strength can only be brought out by a man of positive character, trustworthy, pure, widely known and as widely respected. It is not a question of reconciling factions, soothing wounded jealousies or confining partisans or personal ambitions. It is a question of finding a candidate who will satisfy the conscience of the party."

The Republican evening papers think the Times' Presidential canvass is premature and untrustworthy. The Post says: Blaine had some preponderance of personal following in 1876 and 1880, and did not get the nomination, nor do we think he would have carried the election had he been nominated.

The Mail and Express says: These prognostications are as valueless, as regards the Presidential situation, as so many weather reports for July next year. It gives prominence, however, to Blaine's ascendancy.

The Commercial, comparing the last State election returns in New York with the Presidential election, says that even if the falling off of the Republican vote could all be counted for Blaine, there would still be three-fifths of a vote anti-Blaine in the State, and that similar comparisons in Pennsylvania show the Independent or Blaine vote there is only about fifty thousand, or one-fifth of the entire Republican vote.

W. W. Morrow, late Chairman of the Republican State Committee in California, writes to the Times as follows: "Blaine has strong rivals; one of these is Senator Miller. If Miller were put up by any large section of the party he would secure the solid support of California."

THE COLORADO PLAN.

How Ores Are Treated by Smelting and Leaching.

The following description of the method of treating ores at Golden, Colorado, is given by the Denver Journal of Commerce:

The ore is crushed by Cornish rolls and a Blake crusher, which have a capacity of from fifty to sixty tons per day. From the ore-house the crushed ore is dropped down through chutes to the calcining department below. Ores which contain zinc, sulphur and antimony are roasted in the calciners, of which there are five at present. In these calcining furnaces the sulphur in these ores is expelled, after which the ores are removed to the smelting department. In these furnaces the ore is melted to a liquid state, and the copper, gold and silver, being the heaviest parts of the ore, sink to the bottom, and the slag, or worthless residue remains on top and is skimmed off. The gold, silver and copper, or matte, which is obtained from the smelting, is then crushed until it will pass through a screen, whose meshes are eighty to the square inch. The matte is now fine as flour. It is taken to the refining furnace and here again roasted. After this roasting the matte is ready for the leaching tubs, and here, to the stranger, is the very interesting part of the works. In this room the silver is separated from the matte, and obtained in almost a pure state. The matte is placed in the leaching tubs through which hot water is running. The silver in the matte is now dissolved in hot water, and the hot water, with the silver in solution, passes out of the tubs into silver cisterns. These cisterns contain several copper plates, and the water, with silver in solution passing over them, loses the silver, it being precipitated upon the copper plates in the form of a sponge. The cisterns are cleaned once a week, the silver melted in a crucible, and then molded into bricks for shipment.

Justice Field on the Future of America.

A Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader gives the views of Supreme Judge Field concerning the future of America, as follows. The Judge is reported to have said:

The future of America is illimitable. Many men now living will see the day when we will have a population of 100,000,000 and when our territory will be bounded by the Isthmus of Panama on the south. Mexico will be annexed to the United States before many years, and our railroads are already reaching out to bring it into the Union. We have been getting only $6,000,000 of her commerce and we should have the whole $90,000,000, which it amounts to. American railroads will soon cover the country as a net. American telegraph operators, station agents and other employees will follow. They will buy land along the track, and marry Mexican girls. Immigration will follow, and we will soon have American Judges and officers in Mexico. After this annexation will follow without trouble. Then will come Central America in the same way, and thus the great American race will cross the Isthmus, and the southern continent will fall into its hands. I look for the day when both North and South America will be inhabited by English speaking people. It is the greatest colonization of the races of to-day, and it may own the world in the future. Look at it! There is Australia, as large as our continent, owned by the English. There is Tasmania, an island as large as the United States, inhabited by English speaking people. New Zealand is another vast body under their power. Canada and Southern Africa are English, and India is fast succumbing to them. No race wipes out other races as does the English or the Caucasian. It either swallows up all it comes in contact with or it exterminates them. The Indian it is exterminating to-day. It tolerates the negro. America is a magnificent field for such a race, and the Americans are the most prosperous people in the world to-day. We are the richest people in comforts. Ameria wastes enough every year to keep France most royally. It will be the great nation of the future. All it needs to become so and continue so is a system of good laws properly administered and a sound medium of currency. These once had, other things will follow.

Blaine Not a Candidate.

The New York Tribune on the Times' Presidential canvass says: There is no doubt that Blaine stands better before the country to-day than ever before. If he chose, he could be a stronger Presidential candidate than in 1876 or 1880, but it is known he has reluctantly refused to be considered a candidate, or let his friends work for him. He says he has no desire to return to public life, and has found new and congenial work, in which he is engrossed.

Cheap Railroad Fare for Poor Men.

Third-class tickets for Eastern cities are now sold at a discount. A drawback of over one-fourth, in many instances, is allowed. As much as $20 was recently deducted from the rate, owing to competition between Eastern lines having agencies here. These drawbacks, paid by Eastern lines, amount to nearly the entire proportion of through fare which they receive.

TORNADOES.

Scientifically Accounted for, and Some Remote Causes that Produce Painful Results Explained.

The following synopsis of a lecture delivered by Dr. Horace R. Hamilton before the New York society for the promotion of science, contains so much that is timely and important that it can be read with both interest and profit:

There is probably no subject of modern times that has caused and is causing greater attention than the origin of tornadoes. Scientists have studied it for the benefit of humanity; men have investigated it for the welfare of their families. It has been a vexed subject long considered, and through all this investigation the cyclone has swept across the land carrying destruction to scientists as well as the innocent dwellers in its track. One thing, however, is certain; the cause of the cyclone must be sought far away from the whirling body of wind itself. Its results are powerful. Let us therefore consider a few facts. First the appearance of a cyclone is invariably preceded by dark spots upon the face of the sun. These spots, indicate a disturbed condition of the solar regions, necessarily affect the atmosphere of our earth. An unusual generation of heat in one part of the atmosphere is certain to cause a partial vacuum in another portion. Hence the disturbances—hence the cyclone. This theory finds additional confirmation in the fact that tornadoes come during the day and not at night. The dark spots upon the surface of the sun, whatever they may be, seem to cause great commotion in the atmosphere of the world, and it is almost certain that the extremely wet weather of the present season can be accounted for on precisely this basis. Is it reasonable to suppose that the marvelous effect of the sun upon vegetation and life in general shall be less than upon the atmosphere itself through which its rays come? The cause is remote, but the effect is here.

After describing some of the terrible effects of the cyclone, the speaker went on to say:

This rule finds its application in nearly every department of life. An operator is in San Francisco—the click of the instrument manipulated by his fingers, in New York. The President makes a slight stroke of the pen in his study at the White House, and the whole nation is aroused by the act. An uneasiness and disgust with everything in life, commonly called home-sickness, is felt by many people, when the cause is to be found in the distant home thousands of miles away. An uncertain pain may be felt in the head. It is repeated in other parts of the body. The appetite departs and all energy is gone. Is the cause necessarily to be found in the head? The next day the feeling increases. There are added symptoms. They continue and become more aggravated. The slight pains in the head increase to agonies. The nausea becomes chronic. The heart grows irregular, and the breathing uncertain. All these effects have a definite cause; and, after years of deep experience upon this subject, I do not hesitate to say that this cause is to be found in some derangement of the kidneys or liver far away from that portion of the body in which those effects appear. But one may say, I have no pain whatever in my kidneys or liver. Very true. Neither have we any evidence that there is a tornado on the surface of the sun; but it is none the less certain that the tornado is here, and it is none the less certain that these great organs of the body are the cause of the trouble although there may be no pain in their vicinity.

I know whereof I speak, for I have passed through this very experience myself. Nearly ten years ago, I was the picture of health, weighing more than 200 pounds, and as strong and healthy as any man I ever knew. When I felt the symptoms I have above described, they caused me uneasiness, not only by reason of their aggravating nature, but because I had never felt any pain before. Other doctors told me I was troubled with malaria, and I treated myself accordingly. I did not believe, however, that malaria could show such aggravated symptoms. It never occurred to me that analysis would help solve the trouble, as I did not presume my difficulty was located in that portion of the body. But I continued to grow worse. I had a faint sensation at the pit of my stomach nearly every day. I felt a great desire to eat, and yet I loathed food. I was constantly tired and still I could not sleep. My brain was unusually active, but I could not think connectedly. My existence was a living misery. I continued in this condition for nearly a year; never free from pain, never for a moment happy. Such an existence is far worse than death, for which I confess I earnestly wished.

I was while suffering thus that a friend advised me to make a final attempt to recover my health. I sneezed inwardly at his suggestion, but I was too weak to make any resistance. He furnished me with remedy, simple yet palatable, and within two days I observed a slight change for the better. This awakened my courage. I felt that I would not die at that time. I continued the use of the remedy, taking it in accordance with directions, until I became not only restored to my former health and strength, but of greater vigor than I have before known. This condition has continued up to the present time, and I believe I should have died as miserably as thousands of other men have died and are dying every day had it not been for the simple yet wonderful power of Warner's Safe Cure, the remedy I employed.

The lecturer then described his means of restoration more in detail and concluded as follows:

My complete recovery has caused me to investigate the subject more carefully, and I believe I have discovered the key to most ill health of our modern civilization. I am fully confident that four-fifths of the diseases which afflict humanity might be avoided were the kidneys and liver kept in perfect condition. Were it possible to control the action of the sun, cyclones could undoubtedly be averted. That, however, is one of the things that cannot be. But I rejoice to say that it is possible to control the kidneys and liver; to render their action wholly normal, and their effect upon the system that of purifiers rather than poisoners. That this end has been accomplished largely by means of the remedy I have named I do not have a doubt, and I feel it my duty to make this open declaration for the enlightenment of the profession and for the benefit of suffering humanity in all parts of the world.

Arthur in the Field.

The New York Herald's Washington special says: It will be remembered that it was to General Harry White, President of the Pennsylvania State Convention in 1877, that President Grant addressed his Cleveland "third term" letter, which was drawn out by a resolution of the Convention, to the effect that under the sanction of the most venerable examples, the Presidential service was limited to two terms. General White was Chairman of the Committee of Resolutions at the present Republican State Convention, held at Harrisburg, and reported a resolution endorsing the administration of President Arthur. In conversation yesterday, he said it was surprising to what extent President Arthur was growing in popularity estimation in Pennsylvania, and he particularly noticed the cordial approval of the commendatory resolutions received from all the delegates to the Convention. Since the adjournment of the Convention he had met many prominent Republicans in his travels through the State, and the sentiment was the same everywhere. He said that Arthur was growing in popularity, and his administration commanded itself to the warmest approval of his fellow citizens. White said, with confidence, that with this popularity it would be easy to predict who would be the nominee of the next National Republican Convention. It is already said of Arthur what was never said of his predecessors, who were Vice Presidents, that the wisdom of his administration promises to disarm political opposition, increase the confidence of his friends and multiply the advocates for his continuance in the Presidential chair, a fact which General White cites as certain evidence of the success of the Republican party in Pennsylvania at the Fall election, and the election next year of a majority of the Republican electors.

To the five groups of sun spots which have exhibited intense action the past week, two more have just been added by the sun's rotation. The sun storm which is just coming into view covers a great area, showing very rapid changes, and violent thunder storms and tornadoes may be expected this week in the northern States and Canada.

THOSE WOMEN FOLK.

How Hard-Headed Men Estimate Some Things Which They Don't Understand.

Anybody who has led a domestic life knows how common such things as the backache, and pains in the chest, are among the women who do the work. Often—and perhaps generally—the distresses are borne without much complaint. The women get about, and the malady of the house goes on. Beyond this, those coarse-grained animals whom New England women call "the men folks," seldom look.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN.

What is Being Said and Done in a Small Way.

Secretary of State Dorner is rustinating at Lake Tahoe.

The big fire in the mountains west of Verdi continues to blaze.

U. S. Marshall Corbett went to San Francisco yesterday morning.

The San Francisco Call says "Gov. J. W. Adams, of Wyoming, is in the city."

The widow of the late John C. Heenan is living at Lone Pine, Inyo county, Cal.

Judge Edwards of Carson, will start for Denver in a few days to pass his vacation.

The San Francisco papers announce the fact that Bob Hawland is building a residence in that city.

Hon. H. C. Burchard, Director of the U. S. Mints, went through to Carson yesterday from San Francisco.

Hon. C. H. Galusha, a member of the late Assembly from Storey county, was in town yesterday morning.

George Hurst, proprietor of the San Francisco Examiner, was a passenger for San Francisco yesterday morning.

The Union Consolidated Mining Company has levied an assessment of 50 cents per share, delinquent August 22d.

Senator John P. Jones was a passenger for the Bay yesterday. He will return in a few days and join his family at Tahoe.

M. T. Barnett had a fine display of Reno raised raspberries at his store yesterday. They are far superior to any raised in California.

But for the refreshing breeze which comes to us fresh from the mountains there would be intense suffering by the heat these long July days.

J. A. Scott who tried hard for a year or two to develop one of the Peavine mines, is working a placer claim at Fair Play, El Dorado county, Cal.

Eddie Coffin, who has been acting as delivery clerk in the Postoffice for some time, went to California yesterday on a visit to Charley Knust and family.

When the alarm of fire was given yesterday, Dick Kelly drove his team to No. 2's quarters and hauled their machine to the fire. Such things are appreciated, not only by the firemen, but by the public as well.

The Palace.

The Palace hotel is one of the most attractive places to be found anywhere in the State. The proprietors allow nothing to go undone that will add to the convenience or comfort of their guests. The hotel is open day and night, and no efforts are spared by the proprietors or their assistants to entertain patrons.

Second the Motion.

These moonlight nights are wonderfully beautiful and have suggested to a number of pleasure seekers the idea of getting up a moonlight party at the Riverside picnic grounds. No more healthful or pleasant way of spending one of these charming evenings could be suggested, and, therefore, the motion is seconded.

Visiting the Pacific.

Congressman Calkins, of Indiana, went west yesterday morning. Mr. Calkins is one of the leading Republicans in Congress and his name is mentioned as among the possible candidates for President in 1884. He is one of the truest and brightest men in Congress, a firm friend and admirer of Nevada's worthy Senator, John P. Jones.

An Old Man's Best.

Have used Parker's Ginger Tonic for bad cough and humor hag I had twenty-five years. I feel like another man since I used it. Am 60 years past. Believe it is sure to cure younger persons. A. Ormer, Highspire, Pa.

A. O. U. W. ITEMS.

Encouraging Reports From Different Portions of the Jurisdiction.

The circular recently issued by Grand Master Workman Kinsley, to the A. O. U. W. of this jurisdiction, urging the membership to make an especial effort for the ensuing month to add to their numbers with a view to securing a separate beneficiary jurisdiction, is having the desired effect. Reports from all portions of the district show a general movement and the result is pretty certain to be secured by Sept. 1st at latest. Mr. Kinsley visited Ormsby Lodge, No. 4, at Carson, Tuesday evening, and witnessed the admission of six new members.

Deputy Grand Master Bullard, of Montana, writes: "Silver Bow, No. 11, of Walkerville, have nine candidates for their next meeting; Butte, No. 1, has five; Alta, No. 4, of Wickes, has four."

L. S. Cox, of Greene River, Wyoming, under date of July 13th instant, says: "On the strength of your communication Sweetwater Lodge, No. 2, added six new members this evening."

A. R. Schivolek, Recorder of Warren Lodge, No. 18, of Carlin, writes: "We can safely promise from five to ten new members within the next thirty days."

F. M. Foote, Deputy of Evanston, Wyoming, writes: "We are sure of six if not ten new additions within the month."

S. D. Beebe, Deputy of Dillon, Montana, writes: "We receive eight at our next meeting and expect to add at least fifteen within the month."

Daniel Thorburn, Grand Recorder, writing from Gold Hill, says: "Our Lodge already has 111 members, yet we are trying to add our quota towards the separate jurisdiction."

A telegram from Wilkes, Montana, received yesterday afternoon, says: "Alta, No. 4, added twelve new members at their meeting this week."

Applications are now being made for the new lodge to be instituted in Reno. The prospects are good for a fine charter list.

That Suicide.

Yesterday afternoon the officers were notified that some one had committed suicide in a shanty East of Bragg's lumber yard in what is known as "flatiron" division. Officers Nash and Jones repaired to the locality and soon found the house wherein the bloodless scene occurred, and hastily forcing in the door beheld upon the floor the prostrate and filth-covered form of an old colored woman. By her side lay an old Smith & Weston powder-box with three empty chambers. "Suicide, as sure as fate," said Jones. "Not much loss, from the appearance of things," replied Nash. Search was made for blood and bullet holes, but none could be found.

The search, however, convinced the officers that the creature was dead-drunk. Investigation developed the fact that the woman had fired three shots, but whether with suicidal intent or not, no one cares, except perhaps, a possible regret that her aim was not more perfect.

Look Before You Leap.

Under the above caption the Enterprise takes the JOURNAL to task for publishing an account of a flour riot at Virginia City, Montana, under the heading of "Old Doings in Nevada." The blunder was a stupid one, to be sure, but, possibly not altogether unpardonable, for sometimes such things will happen, with the best and most careful. The intention was to strike out "Nevada" and insert "Montana." In proof of this, it is only necessary to refer to the Enterprise, proverbial for steering clear of mistakes and blunders of any kind, wherein, side by side with the article above referred to, it copies a valuable news item from this paper and credits it to "the Reno Independent of last Saturday."

A Break.

The Enterprise says a break occurred in the main pipe of the water company Tuesday morning beyond Lake View, Washoe Valley, and the water was shut off for a time pending repairs. Superintendent Overton was soon on the ground. The break was at a point where the pressure is immense. At the point of greatest depression in the pipe it is under a pressure equal to that of a column of water 1,750 feet in height. When a break occurs on the upper side of the main near this point, a stream of water is thrown to a great height; if the pipe gives way on the under side the ground is as badly torn up as though a cloudburst had landed there. There being two pipes across the valley it would be a great chance if both should give way at the same time.

Drying up.

Louis Dean and party, who have just come in from the mountains, say that there is a great scarcity of water in the mountains this year, that all the streams are very low, and in some places where there is usually an abundance of water many of the brooks are comparatively dry. But little snow is left anywhere except upon the highest peaks.

INVESTIGATING THE FOOT-PRINTS.

California Scientists Investigating the Wonders at the Nevada Park.

A Committee of the California Academy of Sciences consisting of Prof. Davidson and Mr. C. D. Gibbs, C. E., accompanied by Prof. W. P. Blake, passed through Reno yesterday morning for Carson to investigate some fossil foot-prints and remains of extinct animals which have been uncovered since the recent report of the Academy on the Carson foot-print. Prof. Blake's intimate acquaintance with the geological and paleontological history of our Coast will render efficient aid in the investigation of a subject whose importance is best illustrated by the widespread discussions, throughout the scientific societies of Europe and America, to which these singular discoveries have given rise. Warden Bell has been apprised of their coming, and being an enthusiast in the matter himself will cheerfully render the Professors all the assistance and information possible in aid of their investigations.

An Incipient Fire

At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a lot of waste paper and rubbish, which for weeks has been accumulating in the rear of Pollard's Meat Market, took fire. The alarm was sounded and the fire boys answered to the call in double-quick time, but before the hose could be laid the fire was extinguished by means of buckets, and before any damage whatever was done. This ought to serve as a wholesome warning to people to keep their premises clear of waste paper and other combustibles. In this dry, hot weather it is important to use the utmost caution in such matters.

STARTLING WEAKNESS.

General and Nervous Debility, Impaired Memory, Lack of Self-confidence, Premature Loss of Manly Vigor and Powers are common results of excessive indulgence or youthful indiscretions and pernicious solitary practices. Victims whose manhood has thus been wrecked by self-abuse should address, with three letter stamps, for large illustrated treatise giving means of perfect cure. World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

Kill or Cure.

Sam Stanaway, who had the misfortune to smash his great toe while hauling some heavy freight at Wells Fargo & Co.'s office about a month ago, from the effects of which he has been confined to his room most of the time since, went to San Francisco yesterday morning to have the troublesome member cured or amputated. He is tired of nursing it. He will be gone a week or ten days and possibly longer.

Lindley & Co.

Without much noise or confusion Lindley & Co. are doing an extensive business. Their trade has increased so rapidly within the last year that five men have all they can do in the store filling orders and waiting upon customers. Two clerks are kept busy at the books all the time. This is the result of an honest effort to deal squarely with everybody.

A Reliable Firm.

The well earned reputation of the old establishment of Manning & Berry is being nobly sustained by the new firm of Martin & Augustine. The firm is doing a splendid business and their trade is daily increasing. They carry a large stock and treat customers as liberally as any dealer in town.

Fort Halleck.

In a conversation with a representative of the Sentinel, J. P. Edoff of Elko stated last Sunday that there had been no order issued from the War Department to abandon Fort Halleck, all the reports to the contrary notwithstanding. He says further that it is not unlikely that the garrison will be retained there.

Money Orders.

Since the big fire there has been nearly three-quarters of a million dollars sent out of Reno through the post-office alone, and now that the amount that can be sent having been increased and the tariff reduced, in future the postoffice will do a much larger business of that kind.

Acknowledges His Guilt.

John Hennessy, who deliberately murdered Mrs. Hattie Fellows on the 6th instant in San Francisco, acknowledged his guilt and waived an examination, after the testimony of two witnesses had been given. He was held to answer by the Court without bail.

Fine Job Work.

The JOURNAL job office has just received a large and fine stock of paper, cards, inks, etc., for job printing and is prepared to take orders for every description of work in the printing line. Only skilled workmen are employed in the job room and no inferior work is allowed to leave the office. Compensation prices are charged for every job and satisfaction guaranteed. Call and examine our specimens and leave your orders.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. fob. 21-swf-Jyr.

Refreshing.

That the weather is extremely hot no one will deny, that a cool, healthful drink is refreshing all adult, and you can find just such nutriment at George Becker's Granite saloon, headquarters for the Pacific Brewery.
